VOLUME 10

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1907.

NUMBER 44

WILL WED THIS AFTERNOON.

Rev. W. A. Grant and Miss Nora Brown to be Married in Muhlenburg County.

THE COUPLE WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE.

At 6 o'clock to-day in Paradise, Ky., Rev. W. A. Grant, of Cane Valley, will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Nora Brown by the Rev. R. F. Hayes, of Owensboro.

Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown, of Paradise, and is noted for her many Christian graces. Her sweet and sunny disposition has won for her many friends in Muhlenburg and adjoining counties. She will be greatly missed and Bro. Grant is indeed to be congratulated on winning the hand of such an accomplished young lady.

Rev. Grant is quite well-known throughout Adair and adjoining counties as a former pupil in the Lindsay-Wilson Training School and as an active and energetic minister of the M. E. Church South. He has at present the Centertown charge. This charge he has filled to the satisfaction of all. He has labored incessantly. Many souls have been saved, Christians have been strengthened, churches have been built and much good has been done under his ministerial work.

We predict for Mr. and Mrs. Grant a bright and happy future and the people of Centertown extend their heartiest congratulations and best wishes.

BUMGARNER-VAUGHAN.

Mr. Lee Bumgarner, of this county, and Miss Margaret Vaughan, of St. Mary's, Marion county, were married in Lebanon Tuesday last week. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Bram Vaughan, a former citizen of Columbia, and for many years was a constable and a deputy Sheriff of this county. Mr. Bumgarner is a prosperous young farmer and resides near Cane Valley. The bride has a number of relatives in this county.

DEATH OF MR. CHAS. R. LONG.

After a long illness, Mr. Chas. R. Long, who for many years had been connected with the business affairs of Louisville, and who until recently was President of the City Water Works, died at his late home last Wednesday evening. Mr. Long was twice married, his last wife, who survives him, being Miss Nannie Turner, of Campbellsville.

DIED IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Mr. Lee Sanders, a well known stock dealer, a native of Taylor county, and who had a large acquaintance in Adair county, died in Asheville, N. C., last week. He was a victim of pulmonary trouble. He leaves a wife, who was a Miss Buchanan, and several children.

Mrs. Jo Franklin, who was about sixty-five years old, fell dead at her late home near Gradyville, last Tuesday afternoon. Heart trouble is supposed to have been the cause of her demise. Her husband, who was brought to Adair county when he was fourteen years old, from Old Mexico, by Jim Sexton, survives her, and also quite a number of sons and daughters.

Bennett & Wilson have sold their stock of groceries to McLean Bros., and the stock of goods has been removed into McLean Bros.' store. Bennett & Wilson will open a first-class meat market in the same building in which they sold groceries. Mr. Wilson will go to Louisville and buy a refrigerator and all other things necessary for conducting a first-class meat shop.

SHOE FACTORY.

Manier, Dunbar & Co., a wholesale and shoe firm of Nashville, will erect a fifty thousand dollar shoe factory at work to begin at once. It will employ work for over three hundred men, one hundred of the number skilled workmen. The building will be five stories with a capacity of making 2,500 pairs of shoes, per day. The firm of Manier, Dunbar & Co., has been in the shoe business for a number of years, and as jobbers, they are second to none in Nashville. This new departure, manufacturing, is a great enterprise for the South. Mr. J. S. Dunbar, a member of the firm, is a native of Kentucky, having been born and reared on Cumberland river, five miles from Jamestown. His Kentucky friends are glad to learn of his unprecedented success, believing that he justly merits all the good things that come his way.

Mrs. L. C. Hurt, of this place, has accepted the General Agency for the California Perfume Company for Kentucky. It will be her business to travel over the State and establish local agents. Mrs. Hurt is a most excellent lady, full of energy, and we predict that she will meet with success. Mr. W. C. Murrell and wife will occupy Mr. Hurt's residence while Mrs. Hurt is traveling, and Mr. Hurt will board with them.

SURPRISE THEIR FRIENDS.

Mr. Elmer Wheat and Miss Maggie Jones, Jamestown, Quietly Married.

MARRIED AT METHODIST PARSONAGE.

The family of Mr. G. F. Jones and the residents of Jamestown, generally, were surprised last Wednesday evening when it was announced that Mr. Elmer Wheat, County Court Clerk of Russell county, and Miss Maggie Jones, who is an accomplished daughter of Mr. G. F. Jones, were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage late in the afternoon. The couple had been keeping company for some time, and it was generally believed that they would get married, but it was believed that they would not steal a march on their many friends.

The affair was managed very nicely in order to keep down suspicion. The groom being the County Clerk, issued his license, booked up his horse and buggy and drove to the home of his affianced, and the couple went driving. While out they stopped at the parsonage and took the vows that make two hearts beat as one.

The father of the bride did not know of the occurrence until his daughter handed him the license.

Both the groom and bride are highly respected and quite popular throughout Russell county.

The bride has many acquaintances in Columbia, all of whom extend their best wishes.

The groom is a good business man, possessing exemplary habits, and in our judgment will make an ideal husband.

Miss Minnie Kemp, of this place, has accepted a position in the Greensburg High School, which will open the 16th. She is one of Columbia's most excellent young ladies, and is a teacher of several years' experience. She has taught in the M. & F. High School and the Lindsay-Wilson Training School, this place, giving perfect satisfaction to the management of the institutions, and we feel sure she will be very much liked as an instructor at Greensburg.

Last Wednesday evening Miss Bess Rowe, in her usual graceful manner, entertained at her beautiful country home, on the Burkesville pike. Quite a number of couples of Columbia responded to invitations, and the general expression is, that it was a most delightful occasion. The music was enchanting and the refreshments very much enjoyed.

It is only fourteen days until the Conference convenes at this place. If you are not ready, get ready. Every body should assist in entertaining the ministers. It should be remembered that we are indebted to the Louisville Conference for the great stride this town has made in the last four years.

A great many people will be in Columbia next Monday, the opening of Circuit Court. Persons who know themselves indebted to this office are requested to "drop in" and make payment.

DEMOCRATIC DAY.

Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and Hon. Ruby Laffoon Speak at Columbia.

LARGE CROWD, ENTHUSIASTIC VOYERS.

Last Monday forenoon Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, the next United States Senator from Kentucky, and Hon. Ruby Laffoon, candidate for State Treasurer, and Hon. John B. Chenault, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, reached this place about 10:30, stopping at the Columbia Hotel. From the time of their arrival until the dinner hour, they were kept busy shaking hands with their numerous friends, all of whom were enthusiastic in the cause for Democracy.

At 1:30 in the afternoon every available spot in the large Court-room was taken, and many of the yeomanry were left upon the outside.

The audience was called to order by Attorney L. C. Winfrey, paying a nice compliment to the people of Adair and the distinguished guests. When Mr. Winfrey concluded, Hon. James Garnett, of this place, in a few well-chosen sentences, introduced Governor Beckham to the waiting assembly, and for two hours the distinguished Executive spoke to the most attentive audience ever gathered in the Court House. In a few minutes after he opened his address, the crowd upon the outside began clamoring for a speech, and Mr. Laffoon went down and spoke from the Court-house door.

It was Governor Beckham's desire to begin his campaign at Columbia, and in his opening remarks he paid a high compliment to the Democrats of Adair county. He then reviewed his own record as the Executive of the State, comparing his official acts to those of W. O. Bradley; stated that Wilson and Bradley were one in thought, and if people of Kentucky should elect Wilson they could expect another Bradley administration. Referring to the affairs of the State under Republican rule, he showed that the public funds were recklessly spent, and that when Bradley retired from office, he left the State largely in debt. He scored Bradley for ordering out the militia infirmities of peace; his effort and Wilson's effort to defeat Dr. W. G. Hunter for United States Senator after he was the caucus nominee of the Republican Legislature, etc. He spoke of the stand he had taken for Temperance—his favoring the County Unit law, the closing of the saloons in large cities on the Sabbath, and that Wilson was a superb artful dodger of the issue. He showed the condition of affairs at Frankfort under Democratic rule; that Kentucky was out of debt notwithstanding she had built a capital at the expense $1,600,000, had increased the school per capita until it was now larger than it had ever been, had expended large sums of money on the charitable institutions; that the Democratic Administration was proud of its record, and he defied Mr. Wilson, the Republican candidate for Governor, to refute his statements.

He touched upon all public questions, making one of the most argumentative speeches we ever heard. It was as he said a heart to heart talk, convincingly spoken. He closed by urging the voters of Adair county to be at the polls on the 6th of November and cast their suffrage for Judge S. W. Hager for Governor and the remainder of the Democratic ticket. Mr. Laffoon followed Gov. Beckham in a second speech, taking Democracy for twenty minutes. In the near future we will publish Gov. Beckham's speech in full.

THANKS.

The Casey County News pays Columbia the following compliment: "Columbia is the prettiest inland town I ever saw. The business houses are two-story bricks of modern architecture, and the handsome interiors, all filled with stocks of goods ranging approximately in value from $2,000 to $25,000, show that the merchants are all pretty well on to their jobs. They are certainly as polite a lot of gentlemen as I ever talked with, and the same can be truthfully remarked about each and every one of their clerks. The residences and yards in and around Columbia are unusually attractive—simply beautiful. From time immemorial, or from the date whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, Columbia has been noted as a town of rare educational facilities. The colleges there have instilled knowledge of a superior nature into many thousands from all over the country."

Rev. C. R. Payne, who returned from West Virginia, last week, has sold five building lots, one to John Sandusky, one to Chas. Sandusky and three to the planning mill company. These lots are sold from the addition recently purchased from Mrs. Mary Garnett and they all front the street leading to the Fair Grounds. Five residences will go up on these lots at once. Rev. Payne will also build, making six dwellings in this part of town to be erected this year.

HORSE STOLEN.

Stolen from my place, 3 1/2 miles N. E. Liberty, on Hustonville pike, a red roan horse, 11 years old. 1 white hind foot, goes all the gaits. Has been a show horse, and was on the Fair circuit for two years, and wore a number of blue ties. Pleasant disposition—kind for women and children to handle. If tapped on the front legs, will get down on his knees. $50 reward for return of horse and capture and conviction of thief or will give liberal reward for information of the horse. J. WATT BROWN, Liberty, Ky.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Words are inadequate to express my appreciation for the comforts so faithfully administered by neighbors and friends during the sickness and death of my husband. Respectfully, MARY DUDLEY.

ATTENTION MEN.

$3. will buy a heavy Duck back shoe. For sale by Frank Sinclair.

All persons who have been kind enough to furnish board at Hotel and other places to Ministers and delegates to the Conference are requested to notify A. R. Kasey, F. R. Winfrey or J. R. Hindman of the names of the Hotel's or boarding places they have selected.

People are putting their homes in trim, getting ready to entertain Conference. Columbians are hospitable people, and we are not ready to say there is a family in town who will refuse to entertain who can possibly do so.

Mrs. Mary Harvey, who is teaching the West Columbia school, had enrolled 83 pupils during the first month, 79 the second and 83 the third. This indicates that Mrs. Harvey is very much liked as a teacher.

The band boys left for the Monticello Fair Monday morning. After reaching their destination they were strong advocates of piking the road from here to that place.

The laying of brick on the new buildings at Russell Springs has not as yet commenced. The contractors have been greatly delayed about getting material.

Workmen are making an effort to complete the Methodist Church and have it ready for Conference which convenes here the 25th inst.

There will be several interesting civil suits tried at the coming term of circuit court if all parties are ready and an effort is being made to that end.

We understand that the new Baptist School at Campbellsville and the Presbyterian school, same city, opened with flattering prospects.

It is said that a great many farmers will have to enlarge their corn cribs, on account of the abundance of grain raised this year.

FOR SALE:—A good combined horse, 11 years old, sound and all right. Coy E. Dudgeon, Columbia, Ky.

J. G. Eubank has just established a new set of stock scales, near his residence. Your patronage solicited.

The colored institute was in session last week.

A PRAISEWORTHY CONTEST.

Miss Lorena Pile, of This City, Enters the Louisville Herald Contest for a Free Trip to the Exposition.

WINNING THIRD CAPITAL PRIZE.

The friends of Miss Lorena Pile, not only in Columbia and Adair county, but throughout this section of Kentucky, were very much elated last Wednesday afternoon when the announcement came that she had won 3rd capital prize, a handsome and costly automobile, far outstripping all other contestants outside of the Louisville districts, her vote being 457,122. Miss Pile is the telephone operator at this place, and her courteous treatment of the patrons of all lines running into the Exchange gave her a wide acquaintance, and her friends were diligent from the time the contest opened. The machine that she is to receive is valued at $750, and it could not have been more worthily bestowed. The winners of the three capital prizes do not get a free trip to the Exposition and Washington, D. C., but they will be given cut rates, and Miss Pile will be with the Herald party on the coming interesting, and what will doubtless prove a very enjoyable trip.

Mr. W. S. Knight, passed through here a few days ago, en route to the upper counties for the purpose of employing a contractor to build the pike from Jamestown to the mouth of Greasy Creek. It is our understanding that he failed to find a contractor who could take the work, and he returned home, saying that all necessary tools and machinery would be purchased, and a local force would be employed to build the pike.

The M. and F. High School is now in good order and the increase during the first week seems to be very gratifying to Mr. Darnall. The patronage is altogether local and by thorough work the confidence of the people can be secured in further encouragement. The building has undergone slight repairs and a decided improvement is noted on the inside.

For about the thirtieth time we ask the residents of Columbia, when they have visitors, to send the names and location to this office. Also when any member of the family is leaving home, notify us. If you have visitors, it is your duty to see that the local papers notice them. It is impossible for us to see all the comers and goers.

Miss Lula Jones, who has been a compositor in this office for several months, tendered her resignation last week and took the office Saturday. She liked the work, but her services were needed at home. She has been faithful to her duty here and we regretted to see her leave.

Taken up as a stray, by M. O. Stevenson, living northeast of Columbia about 2 miles, 1 white male dog. No mark except 2 black spots on each side; about 18 months old. Given under my hand this 21st of August, 1907. 43-4t JOHN EVANK, J. P. A. C.

Mr. W. T. Carter, of Texas, says that he has traveled through thirteen States, observing the crops, and that the best field of corn he has seen is on the farm of Mr. P. C. McCaffree, this county.

Representatives from every section of the county heard Gov. Beckham and Hon. Ruby Laffoon. The audience was large and enthusiastic.

Mr. James Sudarth, who got his foot fearfully mashed a month ago is just now able to be about, but his foot is yet far from being well.

A mule valued at $140 which was owned by Mr. Josh Butler, was killed by lightning one evening last week.

A Humane Appeal

A humane citizen of Richmond, Ind., Mr. U. D. Williams, 107 West Main St., says: "I appeal to all persons with weak lungs to take Dr. King's New Discovery, the only remedy that has helped me, and fully comes up to the proprietor's recommendation." It saves more lives than all other throat and lung remedies put together. Used as a cough and cold cure the world over. Cures asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, hoarseness, and phthisis, stops hemorrhages of the lungs, and builds them up. Guaranteed at T. E. Paull's drug store. 50c and $1 trial bottle free.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skillful workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing that they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by T. E. Paull, druggist. 50c.

A WORD TO BOYS.

Our young friend did you ever know, can you call to mind a single case of a person, who, having his own way to make in the world, spent his time on the street or in any other form of idleness or dissipation, to succeed in an eminent degree in any enterprise? Look over your list of friends and acquaintances and note their course. Do you not find upon examination that those who to-day are men of influence and honor, were the youths who made the most valuable time, turning it to good account. And on the other hand, do you not find that those who stood on the corners with a pipe or cigar in their mouths, went from bad to worse, from worse to ruin? Sadly must the answer be made oh, that it were not so they have failed. Will you profit by the experience of others? Go not that way. Never be idle. Every moment of your time is a golden one, use it as such, improve the mind, fix your mind on some noble object; be men. The call is for men; for you not be one of that number who can say "I am a man?"

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenwood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

FIRST PAST THE POST.

The editor of the Hardeman Free Press says: "We fell asleep in a chair at Grand Junction last Wednesday night on our way home from Memphis in our usual soaked condition and let our train leave us. The hotel clerk told us to go upstairs and take the room on the right side of the hall with the lamb burning low. He said he was crowded and we would have to double up with a man. We went up and pulled off our things and went to bed without waking our bedfellow, who was sleeping sound with the sheet over his head to keep off the muskeeters. Before we fell into the arms of morphia we seen a young lady and a young gentleman come in and sit down by the window. At first they talked so low we could not hear what they said. Finally we heard the little miss say: "Willie ain't you ashamed to try to kiss me right here where we are sitting up with a dead person? We felt curious. We slowly reached over and touched the nose of the man we was in bed with, and seen at a glance that he was dead all right. We riz up instantly, and it was a race to a finish twixt us three for the bottom of the steps. It is useless to say we was furst past the post by two lengths. We didn't skeer that couple any wuser than the corpse skeerd us. We walked through the country to Bolivar and wired for our clothes by express."

THE HAPPIEST MAN.

The happiest man in the land today is the successful farmer. He sits under his own vine and fig tree, undisturbed by the maddening noise of the great city. Banks fail, railroads go into the hands of receivers, booming towns collapse, all business stagnates. But the wise farmer can snap his finger at these things. He is the monarch of all he surveys on his broad acres. And the honesty of his boys and the purity of his girls is guarded against temptations, and in them he is giving the country its best manhood and womanhood. The farmer is to be envied, and, if he is not contented with his lot, he is lacking in wisdom.—West Point News.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all Cough Cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

HE MUST KNOW.

The country must and does depend upon his friends to help make his paper interesting. Show some interest in your local paper, give all the information you can to the information you can to the publisher. Marriages, births, deaths, or any little item may interest some one. Such items are often absent simply because you don't let the editor know of them. Did you ever think what a steady letter a newspaper is. Week after week it goes on telling of the little things that happen in your neighborhood. If you undertook to write half as much as the paper tells you, you would give up in despair. The letters would grow shorter and further apart and finally cease. People should recognize this and take pleasure in giving the editor items he would otherwise miss.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

COALS TO NEW CASTLE.

William Sylvester Taylor asked Mr. Franklin for a Judge, jury and a sufficient number of kindly-disposed witnesses. Mr. Franklin offers him an armed military escort. Hence and notbyadamsnight! Mr. Taylor has had all of the armed military escorts he wants.

With the exception of his first few days in office, he could not crawl from under the couch without butting his head against some armed and panoplied representative of the Kentucky horse, foot and dragons summon thither to guard the sacred presence. And yet Mr. Taylor forsook them all and fled.

'Tis true that seven years have passed since, but what are seven years to a memory such as drove Taylor to Indiana and has kept him there?

The standing army of Kentucky numbers but three regiments of foot, a hospital corps, a detachment of engineers and a rifle team, the latter now absent from the State. These and more than these could not bring assurance of safety to the bruised bosom they were ordered to defend, and even Mr. Franklin makes no pretense of ability to place Kentucky's army at Mr. Taylor's disposal.

In sooth, it is a hollow jest, and Mr. Taylor will have none of it.—Louisville Times.

Every advocate of temperance can find in Mr. Hager's speech a most gratifying stand on this important matter. He comes squarely out for the county unit bill and ought to receive the support of all advocates of this measure. Contrast his sentiments with those of dodger Wilson.

Mr. Hager's speech was a plain, straightforward statement of his position on all the important issues of the campaign. He speaks out straight from the shoulder without a single dodge on any question.

W. S. Taylor has published another statement in which he says that not under any circumstances will he come to Kentucky and testify for Caleb Powers. He says that the Kentucky authorities have made preparations to trap him. If he would say I don't want to be placed on the witness stand, he would hit the nail square on the head.

A. E. Wilson, the republican candidate for Governor, was denounced by the Long Run Baptist Association which was in session in Jefferson county last week. Christian people do not like Mr. Wilson's position on the whisky question. The candidacy of Judge Hager, the Democratic aspirant, was endorsed by the Association.

Judge Hager and Hon. John K. Hendrick were in the Big Sandy and Mountains sections last week. They were given enthusiastic receptions at every point.

PROFIT IN LOCUST TREES.

The Kansas City Journal says farmers who are planting locust trees declare that there is no more profitable way of utilizing cheap land.

The scheme is figured out in this way: Two thousand and four hundred trees can be planted to an acre. In eight years these trees will be large enough to cut for fence posts.

At retail they will be worth 25 cents each, or 50 cents a tree. That means at retail a crop worth $1,200 an acre at the end of eight years, or an average of $150 an acre a year. If the locust farmer could realize one-third of the retail price he would have $50 an acre, which would be a fair return in comparison with other crops.

If by "cheap land" is meant poor land, some of the owners of the worn out farm in Virginia, for example, might find it profitable to go to raising fence posts. Some sections of that country were farmed in colonial times and after this long time the land is about worn out. Fertilization has not kept pace with decay. In some places the farmer might harvest it with a jack knife, and the corn has a hard struggle to reach the ear stage.

Perhaps the best thing farmers can do in such debilitated regions is to look forward only eight years to a rich harvest of fence posts.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncorrected, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

HIS LIMIT.

In a Western Kentucky town Ben Watson had saved the life of Myra Underhill. Miss Underhill had been overturned in a creek with a swift current, and the act of young Watson was a very heroic one. He had saved the life of the girl after she was sinking for the third time, and had barely strength to pull himself and the young woman to shallow water.

The news spread quickly, and Ben Watson was hailed as the real, live hero of the village.

Aunt Tabby Wilson, the oldest woman in the village, the mother of the little colony, was loud in praise of the heroism of the young man, and declared at once that Ben and Myra must get married. "Ben saved Myra's life," she said, "and now they must marry and be happy ever afterward, just as they do in the story books."

"Why not marry Myra, Ben?" said the old lady. "She is yours, and we must have a wedding."

"She is a nice girl, all right," replied Ben, "but I don't think we ought to marry. Seems to me," he went on, "I have done enough for Myra."

THE AMBITIOUS BOY.

A boy at seventeen can practically determine for himself whether he will be a simple burden bearer for others as long as he lives, a leech on society or whether he will be a broadminded, useful and successful man. If the boy at this age has no ambition to be anybody and is content to simply let things flicker and take his chance with others just like him, frittering away his opportunities to acquire knowledge and caring only for the trivialities of life, he can make up his mind to carry a hod, ride the break beam of a freight car or dodge the police as long as he lives, or he can resolve to be a man in the highest sense, seek every means for physical, mental and moral growth and development and must graduate into the ever widening field of utility and success. It matters little what his boyhood environment may be, if he but has the ambition and well grounded purpose he will climb out of it.—Pittsburg Press.

A HARD JOB.

There is an old Irishman in Baltimore who for many years was prosperous as a grocer. Not long ago, however, lost his all in a "side line," and was compelled to look for a job. Through the influence of a friend he was offered the position of crossing tender at a small railroad station in Maryland.

The Celt looked dubious as the duties of the office were explained to him and the meaning of the various flags was stated.

"In case of danger, you waive the red flag," explained the old man to instruct Mike.

"Wait a bit, wait a bit," interrupted Mike, with a doubtful shake of the head. "I'm afraid this job'd be to much for me. I could never trust meself to remember to waive a red flag when there was a green one handy."—Harper's Weekly.

There's a reason for that ache in your back—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequalled for backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25 cents. Sold by Page & Dohoney.

CHICKENS OF LEISURE.

Mrs. Goldvein, of Cripple Creek, having unexpectedly come into a fortune through a lucky strike, set up a country home near Denver, where she lived in style. One day while she was showing some of her old-time friends about the place, they came to the poultry yard.

"What beautiful chickens!" the visitors exclaimed.

"All prize fowls," haughtily explained the hostess.

"Do they lay every day?" was the next question.

"Oh, they could, of course," was the reply, but in our position it is not necessary for them to do so."—Lippincott's.

JOHN DOUGLAS.

John Douglas was a nice young man, As all young men should be; His parents of him were as proud As parents e'er could be.

He was their only son, you know, And always was so kind; The country through, a better boy, I'm sure you could not find. His parents too, were well to do, John went where e'er he pleased, I think, And wore the best of clothes.

His every wish was satisfied, He never lacked for aught, And many things for poorer friends John Douglas often bought.

But every story has a turn So here's the saddest part, For John at last became exposed To a black demon's dart.

Alas, one day while gaily dressed And on a street parade, John stepped into the very net The whiskey demon laid.

Yes, here he met the grog shop clerk, Who offered him a drink And thus ensnared poor John before, He had the time to think.

He drank of this, he drank of that, The demon offered more, Until a habit he had formed, That called for more and more.

His pocket change soon passed away, His appetite grew strong, His neighbors all began to think That something must be wrong;

For John has changed so much of late, His face has grown so red; A warning voice to him should speak Most every body said.

But now, Alas! it was too late, The habit had him chained, And though he tried quite hard to quit, A drunkard he remained.

His mother too, soon passed away 'In sorrow, to the grave; Her last words were; 'Gainst license vote.

Poor fallen drunkards save, As drunkenness always leads to crime, Poor John was sent to jail; His many friends all gathered 'round, But no one went his bail.

In an attempt to save his son The father's fortune went, Without a home he went to roam 'Till God the summons sent,

And he too, joined the mother earth, And left this world of care. But John, poor John, the wayward son, Was almost in despair

He now began to realize What drinking whiskey cost. But mother, father, home and friends Were now forever lost.

He tried once more to break away, But let him try who can; For every day he tried to go He'd meet the whiskey man.

And every time he'd break the chain To free himself from drink, The whiskey man with glass in hand Would weld the broken link.

The courts stood by, he called for help, They only sympathized, This fiendish work the people had By license legalized.

And thus poor John was forced to go Down to a drunkard's grave. Oh, hear his agonizing cries: "Poor fallen drunkards save."

Can we who fear the hand of God Such things now tolerate? No lets combine and drive the stuff Beyond our native State.

R. L. Campbell, Dirigo, Ky.

PROHIBITION.

From the trend of the editorial in Colyers weekly, one readily sees how the people of the north and east look upon Kentucky as prohibition State. The name she has so long carried is leaving her, and it seems to astound the editor of Colyers Weekly that 97 out of 119 counties in Kentucky are now dry.

"The trend toward stringent restriction of the sale and consumption of liquor would be observed, if it would not be obscured by the louder noises of our pursuit of corporations, as a national movement of impressive size and importance. Who that has the old idea of Kentucky will not be surprised to learn that in 94 out of 119 counties of the State no liquor is sold? Quite potent are minor evidences of social pressure against the making and selling of liquor. In the most important of the secret societies in Kentucky, makers of liquor will not be advanced. In Ohio, East Liverpool, with a population of 25,000 53 saloons have gone 'dry' an incident whose significance lies in the fact that this is the largest city in the State that has ever voted 'no license.'

One of the striking evidences of the spread of anti-saloon zeal is the increased number and importance of local prohibition papers. In Texas 154 counties have abolished the liquor business, and the Georgia Legislature has within a few weeks passed a prohibition statute for the entire State. There are more evidences of more passionate zeal than is expressed in the statutes. In Valdosta, Georgia, women and children stood all day at the polls, converting voter after voter as he was on the point of depositing his ballot. In Hawkinsville, Georgia, "every woman and child in the town was on hand, singing hymns and psalms." Judge Samuel Artman of Boone county, Indiana, rendered a decision to the effect that the saloon is so evil an institution that a State licensing is unconstitutional, urging in his opinion that the State can not delegate the right to "make widows and orphans, break up homes and create misery and crime." Bartow, Georgia voted 1,715 "dry," and only 94 "wet." The south indeed is the conspicuous leader in the anti-saloon movement. In fifteen Southern States, from one-half to four-fifths of the counties are "dry" under the local option law. There is a good deal of insight in the remark of the Memphis. "News-Scimitar" that "the south is leading the country in moral reforms as the north is in economic reform.

CHASING RAINBOW.

How many people go through life deluded with the conviction that if they could only get a little more money, get into a little more comfortable position, own a little better home, or if they could only get over the particular trouble that is annoying them at the time, they would be happy.

I know a man who had a very hard boyhood, suffered great poverty, who is now fifty years old, and he has always honestly believed that if he could only get the particular thing he was after, or get over the particular difficulty that was annoying him at the moment, he would be perfectly happy; but he is the same anxious, restless, expectant spirit to-day as when a youth. He has been quite successful and has done some very remarkable things, but he is invariably in hot water. There is always something that nettles him, or destroys his happiness, and, although he is a wellmeaning man, he has made his family, his employees and every body about him very unhappy, because he is always fretting and worrying, always borrowing trouble.—Ex.

Away up in the mountains Wilson is telling the natives all sorts of stories and ramming untruths down their throats, but a day of reckoning is coming. Democratic speakers will show him and his party up in such a way that they will resent the impudence by turning him and his ticket down good and hard.

"How is it a smart-looking chap like you never married?"

"Well, you see, when I was quite young I resolved I would never marry until I found an ideal woman. After many years I found one."

"Well, what then?"

"She was looking for an ideal man."
